Picturing Writing: Fostering Literacy Through Art® 2017 Summer Institute

Combine Creativity and Rigor to Address ELA Core Standards

Picturing Writing is a dynamic art-and-literature-based approach to writing designed to meet the needs of students with diverse learning styles. Through the use of simple hands-on art experiences, the study of quality picture books, and an on-going Artist/Writers Workshop, this innovative approach to literacy learning gives students access to multiple modalities for thinking and expressing their ideas. It allows all students to enter the reading/writing process from a position of personal strength and enthusiasm. Picturing Writing provides an enticing, alternative pathway into literacy learning guaranteed to engage reluctant writers and struggling readers.

Supported by current best practices and over two decades of independent research, this unique approach to literacy learning can be used to address English Language Arts Core Standards in a way that reaches a wide range of learners. It is also easily integrated into the science and social studies curriculum.

This year’s Summer Institute will offer a weeklong immersion into the Picturing Writing process as participants explore narrative and informational reading and writing, as well as descriptive writing and poetry, through the parallel and complementary languages of pictures and words.

No previous art experience necessary.

I understand that this summer institute will train me to work directly with my students. I also understand that if I am interested in becoming a trainer of teachers, I must enroll in the Certified Trainer Program.
