

Engaging Hands, Hearts & Minds: Creating Passionate Young Readers and Writers

Explore the dynamic relationship between pictures and words with Picturing Writing creator Beth Olshansky. Whether you work with multilingual learners or others who struggle with reading and writing, this presentation will offer a more nuanced look at how the universal language of pictures can be used not only to advance students' vocabulary development, but also to strengthen their reading and writing skills.

Join Beth for a FREE one-hour virtual presentation which will include: a brief overview of two evidence-based literacy models proven effective for a wide range of learners; examples of integrated curriculum projects across multiple genres; a hands-on interactive activity designed to demonstrate the power of pictures to develop deeper meaning; and finally, the data: what research shows.

When: February 6, 2025 – 3:30-4:30 PM Eastern Time

Where: Wherever you are via Zoom

How to register: Email Beth.Olshansky@comcast.net by February 5 to receive the Zoom link.

Watch short video of student reflections.